1. WELCOME

1.1 Welcome of IAU President

Friends! It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 23rd 24 Hour IAU European Championships in Verona. It will be truly wonderful to welcome you back to the international stage after a 2-year hiatus due to the pandemic. This event will bring together the top 24 Hours runners across the continent. We anticipate a good turnout as it has been almost three years since the 24 Hour runners convened at an IAU international event. There have been outstanding distances that have been achieved at the European 24 Hour championships and this year expects to be the same.

I would like to thank our hosts Mr. Stefano Mei, President of Federazione Italiana Di Atletica Leggera (FIDAL) for their continuous support in hosting IAU championships in Italy. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Giampaolo Aloisi, President of the Local Organizing Committee for working diligently with his team to present to us a world-class event for these European championships.

I am personally really looking forward to meeting all of you in Verona. Thank you for your continued support to the IAU over the years, in particular, the last two years. The core of our activities is organizing championships for our athletes. Seeing all of you back on the course will once again bring that objective to the forefront. Benvenuto a Verona! Benvenuto in Italia!

Nadeem Khan
President of International Association of Ultrarunners

1.2 Welcome of FIDAL

The “24 hours” is more than a race, it is more than a challenge with the others and yourself, it is a journey to discover your limits. The joy of living a full day of running goes beyond the efforts, which become a way to reach goals, to feel happy and satisfied, all amplified by the charm of crossing the night. In 2022, on 17 and 18 September, Italy will host the European Championships, a key event in the calendar of a competition that enhances the deep values of sports.

The event should have been held two years ago and will be this year, after the postponement due to the pandemic, and a resubmitted bidding to the IAU with the tenacity and stubbornness typical of the ultramarathon runner, who never gives up facing difficulties, but finds new motivations to overcome them. I am sure it will be an unforgettable event thanks to the long experience of the organizational staff and the appeal of an awesome venue such as Verona.

The event gets the legacy of the historic race “Lupatotissima”, born in 1995, which hosted the first edition of the IAU 24H World Championships, in 2001, and two of the European Champs, in 1999 and 2006, and which has attracted many of the best athletes in the World over the years. But now it has moved to the city of Verona, on a new course successfully tested last season: a few steps from the historic center, with start and finish lines in the sports center named after Adolfo Consolini, a legend of Italian athletics.

Therefore, my special thank goes to Gsd Mombocar, to the president Giampaolo Aloisi and to the secretary Stefano Scevaroli, able to strengthen the key parties like clubs, volunteers, local administrations and sponsors, in order to organise the event in the best possible way.

And, with great pleasure, I address my greetings to all the participants, wishing them to be the very protagonists of this running festival.

Stefano Mei
President of Italian Athletics Federation

1.3 Welcome of IUTA

Ladies and Gentlemen, we would like to congratulate our friends of Mombocar (Verona's LOC) on the remarkable work they have been carrying on in all these years in the field of ultramarathon, which has climaxed with the IAU 24-Hour European Championship being granted to Verona. We are honoured to have had the privilege of greeting the runners, the officials, the authorities, the public and all the welcome guests to this prestigious event. IUTA - the Italian Ultramarathon and Trail Association - since its foundation has been operating - thanks to the support of volunteers - in promoting the activities of those who work in the field of the ultradistances, and through the years it has consistently represented a tangible and reliable reference point for athletes, race directors, organisers, sponsors and the media alike. With the leadership and collaboration of FIDAL - the Italian Federation for Field and Track, IUTA aims at the diffusion, safeguard, promotion, sponsorship and organization of National Championships and other events; it also implements the regulations of the various sectors of ultramarathon, following the criteria and in accordance with IAU and World Athletics. All of us, runners and sympathisers alike, are honoured to welcome you again in safety to this year's sports festival in Verona!

Gregorio Antonio Zuchinali
President of
I.U.T.A. Italian Ultramarathon and Trail Association

1.4 Welcome of the Verona Major

The European ultramarathon arrives in Verona for the first time. And the best athletes of the 43 athletics federations come from all over the continent. Ready to compete in one of the most demanding specialties, the 24 hour individual race. We are proud that our city has been chosen for this important sporting event. Verona once again demonstrates its attractiveness, thanks also to the excellent facilities and the organizational machine that is always ready to get going.

Bringing this event within the Scaliger walls took more than a year of work. Last year, in silence, the general rehearsals and the certification of the race course. This year, finally, we will see the champions compete at the Consolini.

Thanks go to those who are personally involved in the realization of this prestigious sporting event. Our good luck goes to the European champions, Verona is ready to welcome you.

Law. Federico Sboarina
Mayor of Verona

1.5 Welcome of the Verona Sports Councilor

From cycling, to volleyball, from fencing to running. Verona and high-level sport, a combination that is confirmed and renewed in all disciplines. We are happy and curious to host this important European championship within the city walls. We will see athletes who will compete in a 24-hour race, a competition that is incredible, for which a very high level sports preparation is needed.

Our city is ready to field all its excellences, from hospitality, to facilities, to the professionals and volunteers who support every major event.

We thank the International Association of Ultrarunners for declaring the event and GSD Mombocar for organizing it. The municipal administration can only be at their side in this sporting enterprise, certain that it will remain in the history of Verona sport.

Filippo Rando
Councilor for Sport
of the Municipality of Verona

19. TOURISTIC INFORMATION

Information on Verona

Celebrated by Shakespeare, who made it famous as the romantic setting for the moving tale of Romeo and Juliet, Verona is a splendid, ancient corner of the Veneto region, nestling between the river Adige and Lake Garda, and intimately linked to their waters. The river Adige today flows between strong embankments, built after the 1882 flood to contain the devastating river water.

Already in ancient times Verona was linked to the river as an essential route for traffic and commerce and it was not by chance that the Romans, who well understood where best to found their cities, established themselves there.

Precisely because it was navigable as far as Trento, the Adige was a fundamental communication route and the economy of Verona, like those of the villages along the river, was closely linked to water. This is testified to by the numerous mills, the images of the characteristic washerwomen and the monasteries, which had the right to exploit the waters of the river.

The origins of the name Verona are unknown: it may be derived from Vera, perhaps an Etruscan person's name; or it might be of Gallic origin; it may be the name of a Roman family or come from the Latin ver, meaning "spring". But according to one legend the legendary founder of the city, the Gallic chieftain Brenno, called the new inhabited centre Vae Roma, that is "Accursed Rome", which then over the centuries became Verona.
